Health and Safety Standard Operating Procedures in the case of Hellfire (HSSOP Hellfire)

On Plato's Chariot the safe ferrying of souls untainted by Hellfire is our paramount concern. To ensure this, Crew Members must perform the following tasks. For the sake of smooth ship operations, no other action is permissible at any time.

Act. State what you are doing right now. The Supervisor may state what everything else is doing.

If you are unsure of your course of action, consult your most appropriate Decision Response Gauge.

Inquire. Unknown details about surroundings, situation and setting may be ascertained by asking another Crew Member.

The Crew Member asked must respond with a statement that fulfils the inquiry.

Qualify. Agree to currently unaccepted statement, but append a correctional qualification to it.

Affirm. Agree to currently unaccepted statement unreservedly. If 2 Crew Members affirm a statement, it is accepted.

Deny. Disagree with a currently unaccepted statement on grounds of implausibility.

The statement must be retracted OR Qualified such that it satisfies plausibility and becomes acceptable.

Question. Ask for clarification whether a Crew Member would act as indicated by a currently unaccepted statement.

The Crew Member questioned must immediately consult his/her most appropriate Decision Response Gauge.

Which extreme corresponds to agreement of the statement and which to denial is decided by consensus.

In the case of denial, the statement must be Qualified or retracted as per standard Denial.

Three Primary Behaviours

- Ensure a moderating response. Do not panic or incite panic in others, especially those personnel affected by Hellfire.
- Act with trust. Inform affected personnel of their situation and secure them via Hellfire Guarded Hatches.
- Be responsible. Do not attempt to dispose of affected personnel unless you have Hellfire Disposal Training.

Activate the Hellfire Alarm system at any Control point and alert the current Supervisor on Watch via the red Emergency Contact button on a Wall-Mounted Intercom Station. Guard the area to prevent interference from other sources.

Decision Response Gauges (to be completed by all Crew Members and submitted for Supervisor review)

Indicate your current state with a dividing line between two numbers on each of the Decision Response Gauges, as derived from your Decision Response Evaluation (see document ref e.dre404). The further the line is from an extreme the more that extreme is favoured in your behaviour, and the less the opposite extreme is favoured.

Moderate	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	Immoderate
Trustworthy	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	Untrustworthy
Responsible	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12	Irresponsible

To consult a Decision Response Gauge, roll two standard dice across a stable flat surface and sum their top-most faces. The side of the dividing line upon which the result falls indicates which extreme outcome is favoured.

Please Note

It is every Crew Member's responsibility to manage your own and your co-workers' Decision Response Gauges through the administration of doses of Pale Horse before a roll. Regular use will result in calm, honest and team-friendly working behaviour when applied by automatically favouring the left extreme of those respective gauges and ignoring any roll. Doses are available upon reasonable request from your Supervisor. After each successful use of Pale Horse, shift the dividing line one space towards the right extreme to ensure further left side outcomes.

Warning!

Exposure to hellfire grants affected personnel doses of Dark Horse agents that will lead to violent, deceitful and/or rebellious behaviour based on those respective affected gauges! Claims regarding the manifestation of assertiveness, cleverness and independence are in error! Affected personnel may attempt to use Dark Horse upon you or other Crew Members after a roll to automatically favour the right extreme! For your own safety, match their dosage with Pale Horse to compensate! In the event of Dark Horse resulting in a right extreme outcome, the dividing line will be shifted one number to the left, further favouring the right extreme!
